Capstone Guides Proaxis/Howard Head in Acquisition of Alpine Physical Therapy and Wellness (Alpine PT)

Capstone Strategic, Inc., a growth engineering firm providing external growth strategy and advisory services, announced today that Colorado's Howard Head Sports Medicine (HHSM), a best-practices leader in physical therapy, has acquired Alpine Physical Therapy and Wellness (Alpine PT) of Fraser and Granby, Colorado. HHSM is a division of Proaxis Therapy of Greenville, South Carolina. Capstone guided Proaxis/Howard Head in this transaction.

"For nearly 30 years, the team at Alpine PT has been proud to provide exceptional care. Building on this tradition of quality, I am excited about my decision to join forces with HHSM. They mirror the values and quality that I pride myself in as a Physical Therapist, as a business owner, and as a member of this community," said Alpine founder Lori Myers

"We are very fortunate to have the opportunity to welcome Lori and her team. Lori is a staple in the Fraser and Granby communities and is highly respected for her clinical skills and the personal connection she establishes with her patients," added HHSM Regional President Steve Stalzer.

The acquisition will support HHSM's primary objective -- to keep adventurers throughout Colorado healthy and ready to enjoy the gifts and challenges of the Rockies. HHSM operates 12—now becoming 14—clinics in Colorado. HHSM maintains the largest Sports Residency Program in the United States with 17 active residents in Sports Certified Specialist (SCS) and Orthopedic Certified Specialist (OCS) training. They draw support from more than 30 certified specialists and four research scientists.

"Capstone is delighted to have helped bring these two healthcare leaders in the Colorado Mountains together. This acquisition speaks to Proaxis' continued successful implementation of Capstone's unique external growth process," says Capstone's Managing Director John Dearing.

"With Capstone's solid guidance, Alpine Physical Therapy & Wellness and Proaxis Therapy joined forces to create the most extensive physical therapy resource in the Grand County area," said Burton Johnson, VP of Business Development of Proaxis Therapy. "We have worked diligently to make this transition as seamless as possible for all the Alpine Physical Therapy & Wellness patients and we're happy to be able to continue to offer them the very best possible physical therapy services and care."
